In the Gospel today, we learn that after his baptism, Jesus went alone into the desert for forty days, eating nothing. While he certainly hungered for food and human companionship, he was not alone, for he was "filled with the Holy Spirit". This is important to remember, as at the end of this time, Jesus confronts the devil who arrives to tempt him. Jesus calmly and strongly turns the devil's temptations aside, never becoming angry or frustrated, but relying on God's word and the power of the Holy Spirit to resist the devil's temptations. Even in rebuking the devil's attempts to suborn Scripture for his own ends, Jesus is calm and resolute. The unsuccessful devil retreats, but only for the time being, implying that he will return. Jesus' exchange with the devil is an example for all of us as to how we can confront and defeat the temptation we can be assured of in our own lives, not with anger or fear, but with the courage that comes from the Holy Spirit and a reliance on God's sacred word to inform, guide and protect us.

LITURGY VAULT

"The liturgy is celebrated for God and not for ourselves;
it is His work; He is the subject;
and we must open ourselves to Him"

(Pope Benedict XVI, 3 October 2012).

The Order of Mass: The Kyrie

Following the Penitential Act is the recitation or singing of the Kýrie. The word "Kýrie" is a transliteration of the Greek Κὐριε or Lord, and consists of a responsorial twofold form: Lord, have mercy. Christ, have mercy. Lord, have mercy (Greek: Kýrie, eléison. Christe, eléison. Kýrie, eléison).

"The Kýrie is a cry for help of touching humility and simplicity, one proceeding naturally and directly from the heart that is in want, suffering and distress; hence we come across it in many parts of the Old and the New Testaments" (Rev. Dr. Nicholas Gihr, The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass (1942), p. 389).

Kýrie, eléison (Latin: Dómine, miserére) "is on the lips of those unfortunate people in the Gospel who begged Jesus to cure them or their child. These included the blind (Matthew 9:27 and 20:30-31; Mark 10:47), the lepers (Luke 17:13), the Canaanite woman whose daughter was possessed (Matthew 15:22), and the father of the epileptic (Matthew 17:14). It is also the prayer that Jesus places on the lips of the publican in the parable (Luke 18:14)" (Rev. Jovian P. Lang, OFM, Dictionary of the Liturgy (1989), p. 368).

While "have mercy on me" or "have mercy on us" is found in Sacred Scripture, it is never prayed this way in the Sacred Liturgy, since the liturgical Kýrie "is an imploration for all the miseries of mankind and not only for personal miseries" (Rev. Jovian P. Lang, OFM, Dictionary of the Liturgy (1989), p. 368).

When Mass is celebrated exclusively in Latin, the Kýrie is the only part that remains in Greek. "The principal reason for this may be that the common supplication of the people to God for help passed already in the earliest times from the Eastern into the Western Church, in which on account of its frequent use the Kýrie became universally known and loved; hence the reason why this ancient and venerable form of supplication was not translated into Latin" (Rev. Dr. Nicholas Gihr, The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass (1942), p. 391).

No matter the language Mass is celebrated in, it always includes the Hebrew words Amen, Alleluia (outside of Lent), and Hosanna. When the Kýrie is recited or sung in the original Greek, and if a little bit of Latin is included as well, then these three sacred languages are united in the unbloody sacrifice of the Mass, just as they were united in the bloody sacrifice of the Cross: "Pilate also wrote a title and put it on the cross; it read, 'Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews'… and it was written in Hebrew, in Latin, and in Greek" (John 19:19-20).

Here at Carmel Mission Basilica, we will be chanting the Kýrie in Greek at all Sunday Masses during Lent, a time when we are called "to acknowledge our need of the Lord and his mercy" (Pope Francis, Message for Lent, 2019). Next week, we will take a pause in our examination of the Order of Mass to look at the Sacred Liturgy during Lent.

We have been asked to contribute $50,000 towards our Diocesesan ministries.

Lenten Fasting & Abstinence
U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops

Good Friday (19 April, 2019) are days of fasting and abstinence for Catholics. In addition, all Fridays during Lent are days of abstinence from meat. The norms on fasting are from age 18 until age 59. When fasting, a person is permitted to eat one full meal, as well as two smaller meals that together are not equal to a full meal. The norms concerning abstinence from meat apply from age 14 onwards.

"Lent is a favorable season for deepening our spiritual life through the means of sanctification offered us by the Church: fasting, prayer and almsgiving" (Pope Francis, Message for Lent 2017).

Dear Parishioners,

One of our most important ministries here at Carmel Mission is our Hospitality Ministry, which hosts our Coffee and Donuts (and Bagels and Cream Cheese!!)

Following the 7:30, 9:15 and 11:00 AM masses each Sunday.
It is only when we cannot host this event that we discover just how much people love it. Our goal at Carmel Mission is to make all who visit us feel welcome here. Coffee and Donuts is a fantastic community builder.

I thank Chris Stone for stepping up to the plate and agreeing to be Coordinator of this ministry.
Contact her at (831) 297-0318 or (831) 626-4348.

The Hospitality Ministry is in great need of volunteers; one Sunday a month. Especially on the 4th Sunday for the 7:30 AM mass.

Dear Friends in Christ,

I want to express my great gratitude to our local Council of the Knights of Columbus, on behalf of our entire Carmel Mission community.

It is very rare to find a group who are so faith-filled and dedicated to our Church.

Under the inspirational leadership of our Grand Knight, Ken Anderson, the current membership is always willing and able to step up to the plate, even at very short notice. The pancake breakfasts they host are truly delicious. We are so very fortunate to have Jon Stuefloten, a Master Chef, directing operations for these and so many other events, including the forthcoming St. Patrick's Day Dinner (don't forget to get your tickets, they are going fast!) Jon is also a Master Builder, and oversaw the complete fitting of our new Crespi Hall kitchen.

Frank Di Paola is an internationally renowned Classic Car Show organizer, and is responsible for our own Carmel Classic Car event, which has this past year benefited our parish ministries to the tune of $25,000.00 and our Junipero Serra School to the tune of over $15,000.00.

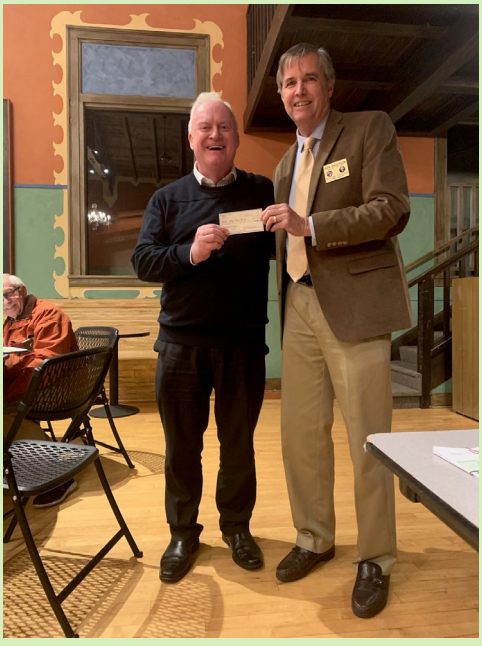
Each of our Knights plays a part in making our Mission a better place to be and a beautiful place to worship our loving God.

To each and every one of our Knights, I send a thousand Thank You's,

May our Lenten Season bring us closer to God and to each other.

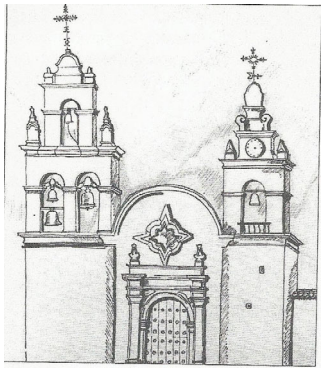
Blessings,

Fr. Paul



DOCENT CORNER/STEWARDSHIP

Manuel Ruiz, Master Stone Mason



When it came time to build the final church at the Carmel Mission, Fr. Lasuén, Fr. Serra's successor, did the actual planning to realize Fr. Serra's dream of a beautiful stone church. In 1791, Fr. Lasuén ordered the stone to be quarried and obtained an architect and master stonemason to design the building.

The architect of Carmel Mission's stone church was Manuel Estevan Ruiz of San Blas, Mexico. He and his brother Santiago, also a master stonemason, received a license to work in the Province of California to build stone churches.

Previously, Ruiz had been tasked with the design and construction of the Royal Chapel at the Monterey Presidio. In 1791, Ruiz was brought from Mexico to design and build the structure that stands today on Church Street in Monterey. Using plans drafted in Mexico City, Ruiz built the church of local sandstone. It was completed in December 1794, and was dedicated two months later.

The cornerstone of the Carmel Mission was laid in 1793 and construction of the stone church was begun in 1794. It was basically complete by 1797 and was dedicated for worship on Christmas day of that year with a grand fiesta. However, much more work remained to complete the interior and the decoration of the building. The addition of side altarpieces and other work went on for much of the mission period.

A unique design was used for the church; the thick stone walls taper inward so the ceiling is formed as an inverted catenary arch instead of the more usual flat design. The parabolic-shaped inverted catenary arch is unique to all of the missions.

Ruiz had a feel for beauty and uniqueness. The original bell towers were of uneven size and were much higher than the current towers. They were done in an open espadaña style. (See illustration) The original main entrance (now the entrance to Our Lady of Bethlehem Chapel) has an elaborate stone carved gateway. Ruiz also designed a vaulted ceiling and the Star of Bethlehem window over the front doorway.

This insight into the Mission history was provided by the Carmel Mission Docent Association. If you would like to find out more about becoming a Docent, please contact Nancy Hardy at nhardycarmel@att.net or 831-624-8846.

Saint Patrick's Day, March 17

According to the Confessio of Patrick, when he was about 16, he was captured by Irish pirates from his home in Great Britain, and taken as a slave to Ireland, looking after animals, where he lived for six years before escaping and returning to his family. After becoming a cleric, he returned to northern and western Ireland. In later life, he served as a bishop, but little is known about the places where he worked. By the seventh century, he had already come to be revered as the patron saint of Ireland. Saint Patrick's Day is observed on March 17, the supposed date of his death. It is celebrated inside and outside Ireland as a religious and cultural holiday.
