FR. PAUL'S MESSAGE

Dear Friend of Carmel Mission,

In today's Gospel we are presented with the mystery of the Incarnation, the Word made flesh. Jesus is fully divine, He is God. Jesus was also fully human, sharing our humanity in a certain time and place, with a particular ancestry, ethnicity, and culture. The fully human nature of Jesus initially ignores and then resists the request of the Canaanite woman, an ancient enemy of the Jewish people. Her plea challenges what He saw as His mission to minister only to the lost sheep of Israel, and His personal ethnic prejudices. To deny Jesus these real human struggles is to deny His relevance to our own in overcoming the racism, sexism, and cultural superiority that remains as prevalent in the world today as it was in Jesus' time.

Jesus is moved through this encounter from unresponsiveness, to resistance, to, finally, the realization that perhaps His work is bigger than even He had realized. For her part, the Canaanite woman does not allow pride to interfere with her faith. She will take any help Jesus will offer her, even in the form of scraps, if it means healing and salvation for her daughter. Through their interaction, Jesus recognizes the depth and sincerity of her faith. This faith impels Jesus into new territory of understanding of Himself and His mission. After His resurrection, the salvation first offered to the Jews through Jesus will be the gift that the community of disciples must offer to all the nations. (Matthew 28:19-20)

Jesus' human nature struggles in this incident to overcome the very human tendency to draw boundaries and establish groups. He began His life and work within the context of God's pre-established relationship with Israel. But we hear in the first reading from the prophet Isaiah that God's generosity and hospitality has always been more radical and inclusive than we can ever understand. God's house is a joyful house of prayer for all people, and all are welcome to His holy mountain. I invite you to join me this week in considering how each of us can continue to better extend God's invitation to this radical hospitality.

I wish you and your loved ones blessings of good health, new hope, and true peace,

Fr. Paul

Scripture Reflection

Today's Gospel is about crossing boundaries into new territory that is not only geographical but also venture into differences of culture, gender and religion. In "pagan" territory Jesus is confronted by a Canaanite woman, a descendent of one of the ancient enemies of Israel. She is the mother of a daughter in dire need of help. The woman is devoting her life to the one she loves, but she is nearing the end of her rope. So, despite that she is a Gentile, she shouts words of faith to Jesus, hailing Him as the "Lord, the Son of David." Jesus response to her may surprise us. He is silent, struggling with His identity and His mission. As though He is thinking aloud, he addresses the disciples, not her, when He says He has come only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. The woman is humble, but tenacious, her need is so great. She kneels down in the dust to beg Jesus in a way that must be painful for both of them. Jesus asks her if it is fair to take the Israelite "food" – the gift of God's salvation – and offer it to dogs, Gentiles. Far from being insulted or put off, the woman take the imagery a step further. She is happy to be a dog if it means she gets the scraps of healing and salvation. Jesus, who learned to read the signs of the times in the Hebrew Scriptures, in prayer, in events, and in people, reads this woman. She is sincere and her faith is real. This faith transcends any human boundaries of culture or religion is worthy of His healing power. The first reading gives a taste of what we learning the Gospel: while Israel plays a special role in God's saving work, salvation is for all people regardless of race or origin. The second reading, too, shows Paul trying to resolve the differences between Jews and Gentiles in his community. The psalm very clearly echoes the message of the other readings: God is for all, for all nations and for all peoples. The ultimate hope is for all to be united in praise of the one God.

ACT OF SPIRITUAL COMMUNION

My Jesus,

I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament.

I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul.

Since I cannot at this moment
receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart.

I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You.

Never permit me to be separated from You.

Amen.

Altar Flowers Opportunity

The Altar Flowers are given today in memory of George Yagi, Sr. by George Yagi, Jr.

Here at Carmel Mission we are very fortunate to be surrounded by natural beauty in our wonderful gardens, and we receive feedback from parishioners and visitors alike on how much they enjoy the flowers, plants and trees on our property. The beauty of nature is a concrete reminder of the beauty of God, in whose image we are made. When we enjoy beautiful flowers, plants and trees we are celebrating God's gift of the natural world.

We are so happy to continue the beauty of altar flowers at our Masses each week. We invite you to consider sponsoring a bouquet for $90 in memory or honor of a loved one, to celebrate a birthday or anniversary, or in thanksgiving to God.

The altar flowers will be a part of our weekend Masses and your dedication will included in our weekly e-bulletin.

Please contact Laura at liturgy@carmelmission.org for more information and to schedule your gift. Thank you so much for your generosity and for helping to ensure that these symbols of beauty and life are part of our weekly celebrations.

LEGACY SOCIETY

Click the thumbnail to the right to watch a short video about the Carmel Mission Legacy Society by Fr. Paul.

What is Legacy Society?

We owe an untold debt of gratitude to countless individuals — over many decades — whose benevolence made today's Mission a reality. Their generosity not only restored the Mission's structures to their former glory but also helped restore a house of faith, education, and outreach that is deeply rooted in our community.

This legacy of giving is the inspiration behind the Carmel Mission Legacy Society. Its purpose is to acknowledge past gifts and honor those who include Carmel Mission in their estate planning.

Legacy gifts provide a unique opportunity to ensure perpetual care for Carmel Mission. Your gift will help this historic and sacred church serve as a house of worship, an educational resource, and support for the most vulnerable in our community, for generations to come.

Ways You Can Give

Through planned giving, there are many ways to make a gift to Carmel Mission without impacting your own financial future. When you include Carmel Mission in your will or living trust or as a beneficiary of your retirement plan or life-insurance policy, you can plan, with confidence, that your generosity will support the Mission after your lifetime.

A legacy gift does not alter your current lifestyle in any way and allows you to leave a legacy without giving up your assets. It is important to note that the bequest is revocable, allowing you to change your mind at any time should your circumstances change.

FIRST LIBRARY OF CALIFORNIA

Among the many, many treasures we have the privilege of caring for at the Carmel Mission is the original Convento Library. Now an important part of the museum, the collection of books first assembled by Junipero Serra represents a unique historical repository of texts brought to Carmel by a succession of Franciscan brothers over 50 years. The library as a whole is a wonderful collection of books put together by Serra and other university-trained theologians that represented more than just a practical missionary library. Our library is a smaller version of what you would have found in any theological seminary in the eighteenth century, in other words it was a study library as well as an assortment of liturgical texts and sermons. The majority of books date to the time of the founding of the missions, that is the second half of the eighteenth century, but many of the books are even older and were printed in Europe in the early seventeenth century. Most of the books are written in Spanish, of course, but some are also in Latin, at the time still the universal language of the Church, and a few others are in French or German. All told, we have close to 550 Mission-era books displayed in four book cases, constructed by Harry Downie for just this purpose.

If you look through the window into the library room, you'll notice that the books are shelved by size, not by subject, title, or author. This was a practical way of maximizing the use of space on the shelf, so that a case with smaller books had more shelves. On the wall to the left, Case I holds the largest books, and clockwise around the room you'll see that Case IV on the right holds the smallest books. The library was small enough during Serra's and Lasuen's time that there was no real need to organize the books by subject, since the padres pretty much knew all the books in the library and where they could be found. There was a shelf numbering system, though, developed by Fermin Lasuen around 1800, that identified each book spine by the case it was assigned to as well as a sequential number for its order in that case. A book labeled III 14 would belong in Case 3 as the fourteenth book in order. That way a book could always be returned to its proper place.

FIRST LIBRARY OF CALIFORNIA

Such a historical treasure house of knowledge deserves to be properly cataloged and shared with the wider world of scholars and enthusiasts who deal in religious texts of the Spanish missionary period. Although the library has been cataloged in the past, first as an inventory by Father Real in 1834, then by Harry Downie in 1966, and finally in 2006, our precious library warrants a modern, scientific bibliography that can be widely shared on the internet. Mission Santa Clara has established just such an online catalog through its university library system. A few months ago, I began a similar project, the goal of which is to catalog all of our Mission books in a way that meets the most stringent requirements of modern librarian science. The first phase is underway, which is a photographic survey of all 550 books. This involves creating a visual, digital record of each book's primary characteristics, e.g. the outer binding, the title page, any handwritten inscriptions or library stamps, and other features that will help us identify where the book came from and when it was published.

This first phase has already led to some remarkable discoveries. While many of the books are common pastoral and liturgical volumes, some are quite unique. These include a book in which pages with handwritten musical notation were pasted front and back, perhaps representing an original mission composition. Another book, commentaries on Aristotle's Metaphysics, is written entirely by hand. This manuscript, which is by definition the only one of its kind, is a copy of a university textbook, most likely used where Serra taught in Palma de Mallorca, and was possibly copied by one of his students. The coming months of exploration and cataloging are sure to uncover even more treasures and surprises, and I look forward to informing you about these in the months to come.

MISSION DOORS RESTORATION PROJECT

We have undertaken the much needed restoration of many of the beautiful wooden doors at Carmel Mission.

The doors of the Carmel Mission are based on designs seen throughout the California Mission Chain and designs replicated throughout the Southwest, Mexico, and Spain. We do have some information that is helpful..

For example the Mission's main entrance doors we are fairly certain are based on Sir Harry Downie's affinity of the doors at Mission Dolores.

MISSION DOORS RESTORATION PROJECT

The much heralded and appreciate “River of Life” door design has been given much attention as it is a prominent feature at many of our Historic Missions. From a traditional understandings that has grown over time the River of Life motif is a direct reference to Revelation 22:

1 And he showed me a river of water of life, bright as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and of the Lamb, 2 in the midst of the street thereof. And on this side of the river and on that was the tree of life, bearing twelve manner of fruits, yielding its fruit every month: and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations.

From and other perspective the three wavy lines have been linked to the trinity. The design of three is a common motif in Church architecture.

As you will see in the before and after photographs, the restoration has brought new life to many of the doors.

MISSION DOORS RESTORATION PROJECT

This project has also given us an opportunity to observe the diversity of architectural styles and incredible workmanship that went into creating the doors.

In a recent conversation pertaining to the unique design with noted Spanish Colonial architecture expert Gloria Giffords shared that all of these perspectives are “dandy ideas”. She shared we really don’t know where these interpretations come from because we don’t have any documentation from when this design was first introduced. In a world that offers so many answers and information it is good that our Mission Church still has a few more mysteries to share. It is even better that we continue to preserve and protect these unique architectural features for future generations to ponder and explore.

“Milagros are small metal religious charms found in many areas of Latin America. The word “Milagros” means “miracles”. These small charms, often depicting arms, legs, praying people, animals and a wide range of other subjects are typically nailed to crosses or wooden statues. The use of Milagros is connected with an institution known as “manda”. This is where a person will ask for a favor from a Saint. A heart might represent ideas as diverse as a heart condition, a romance, or any number of interpretations. Milagros are also carried for protection and good luck.”
