FR. PAUL'S MESSAGE

Dear Friend of Carmel Mission,

In the Gospel today we find Jesus still engaged in the great work of healing. He encounters a leper, an individual not only ill with a dreadful disease but also a social outcast, forced to live in isolation. The leper believes that Jesus' will alone is enough to cure him, and of course, he is correct. Jesus heals him, and admonishes him to keep it to himself. Unsurprisingly, the man cannot keep silent about the incredible miracle wrought in his life by Jesus' compassion and does just the opposite, with the anticipated consequence. Jesus cannot even enter a town, and is forced to stay out in deserted places, where people continue to come Him in droves.

Our first reading from Leviticus sets the stage for a complete understanding of the leper's plight. Leprosy is a communicable disease, and the ancient Israelites did not have our understanding of personal protective equipment and other modern measures to stop the spread of such diseases. The only way they foresaw to prevent this was the isolation of the individual. But in no place in the Scripture does it say that the afflicted should not be cared for in a manner that is safe for the community. Indeed, it is out of care for all the people that such laws were established. It is human beings who cast an aspect of moralization to illness, implying that it is a form of judgment on the person. God's love and mercy falls equally on all people, and this is made manifest in Jesus' many healing miracles.

At our 11am Mass this weekend we will be joined by members of the Order of Malta, and will offer the Sacrament of the Anointing of the Sick to all who believe they will benefit. The Order of Malta, with whom I am proud to serve as a Chaplain, has a 900-year history of ministering to the sick and vulnerable around the world. Please join me in praying for the healing in body, mind, and spirit of all who find themselves in need, and in thanking those members of our local chapter of the Order of Malta for their dedication to the care of God's people.

I wish you and your loved ones blessings of good health and new hope. Please continue to pray for peace and healing in our wounded world,

Fr. Paul

Scripture Reflection

In the Gospel today, a person with leprosy leaves his prescribed place of isolation and reaches out for Jesus' help. Jesus responds with deep emotion. Instead of recoiling from the man, Jesus reaches out His hand, touches him, and says how much he wants to be with the man and see him "be made clean" and reintegrated into the heart of the life of the community. And so it happens. Jesus' oneness with the person who has been ostracized because of his leprous condition is emphasized at the end of the passage, when Jesus experiences a similar outsider status. Jesus "remained outside in deserted places" perhaps not only because of the massive crowds but also because He deliberately sought to be in solidarity with those who are relegated to isolated places, offering them the compassion of God, who does want to be one with them. Our reaction to the leper in this story may be understandably mixed. On the one hand he immediately disobeys Jesus' instructions to keep quiet, and makes Jesus' life harder as a result. On the other hand, who can blame him? Having been seen, received and loved in a way he feared impossible he cannot help but be overflowing with gratitude. The first reading sets the stage for why Jesus' healing is so important to the leper. It's last line almost reads like a sentence, for an illness rather than a crime. "He shall dwell apart, making his abode outside the camp." Not only is leprosy a terrible disease, the social isolation adds another component of suffering. The psalm reassures us that we are always able to bring our troubles to God. We can bring physical troubles, like the leper's illness and we can also bring spiritual troubles. God is big enough to handle all our disappointment and anger. Our troubles may not be immediately resolved by bringing them to God, but we are encouraged to rest in trust that God wants to heal them and bring us back to a place of wholeness and joy.

ACT OF SPIRITUAL COMMUNION

My Jesus,

I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament.

I love You above all things,
and I desire to receive You into my soul.

Since I cannot at this moment
receive You sacramentally,

come at least spiritually into my heart.

I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You.

Never permit me to be separated from You.

Amen.

Altar Flowers Opportunity

The Altar Flowers are given today in honor of Past and Present Malades by the Order of Malta.

Here at Carmel Mission we are very fortunate to be surrounded by natural beauty in our wonderful gardens, and we receive feedback from parishioners and visitors alike on how much they enjoy the flowers, plants and trees on our property. The beauty of nature is a concrete reminder of the beauty of God, in whose image we are made. When we enjoy beautiful flowers, plants and trees we are celebrating God's gift of the natural world.

We are so happy to continue the beauty of altar flowers at our Masses each week. We invite you to consider sponsoring a bouquet for $90 in memory or honor of a loved one, to celebrate a birthday or anniversary, or in thanksgiving to God.

The altar flowers will be a part of our weekend Masses and your dedication will be included in our weekly e-bulletin.

Please contact Laura at liturgy@carmelmission.org for more information and to schedule your gift. Thank you so much for your generosity and for helping to ensure that these symbols of beauty and life are part of our weekly celebrations.

FIRST LIBRARY OF CALIFORNIA

As promised in the previous update on the Convento Library project, I'd like to focus our attention today on the travels our books have undertaken to get to where they are now, that is, Carmel Mission. Some books have traveled far and wide until they landed here, seen many things, surely, and as they say, if they could talk, what tales they would tell. How do we know where they came from and where they have "lived"? Oftentimes someone will write not only their own name in a book, as a sign of ownership, but also some information as to the place where the book belongs. This might be indicated with an inscribed note, a stamp, or some sort of bookplate. These marks are usually called by their Latin term, "ex libris," meaning "from the books [of]." They help us to determine a book's provenance, which is to say, a chain of ownership of people or places.

I had mentioned previously that Saint Junipero did not write his name in books. He did, however, inscribe some books with a note that they belonged to Mission San Carlos. I've been able to determine through handwriting comparisons that Father Serra wrote the Mission name on the title page in about a dozen of the books we currently have in our Mission library. The inscription usually reads "Mision de San Carlos de Monte-Rey." We can tell that it is his own handwriting based on several factors, most notably his capital "M" and the long down stroke in the middle:

But where did these books come from originally, before the Franciscans brought them to the various missions in Alta California? Most of the 550 volumes we now have were published in Spain, mostly in Madrid. Some few were actually printed in Mexico City, while others, mostly those in Latin, came from Germany, Belgium or France. They would have been collected by Franciscan librarians in Spain and sent on to the missionary houses in Mexico City. Many of our books came from the Franciscan college of San Fernando, founded in 1734 in Mexico City as the mother house of all Franciscan missionary activity in New Spain. About twenty or so of our books carry a mark from San Fernando, either as an inscription or as an imprint on the top or bottom edges of the book block.

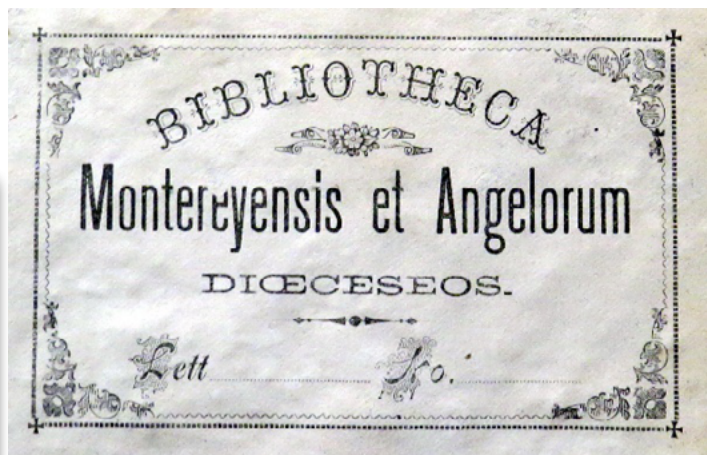

250th Anniversary
CARMEL MISSION
BASILICA

FIRST LIBRARY OF CALIFORNIA

Once the books arrived in Mexico, they would have formed a sizeable library in Mexico City. From there, certain books would have traveled with the Franciscans to their own distant missions to form the nucleus of their libraries. Once in Baja or Alta California, some books might have been loaned to others, or traveled to newly founded missions.

After the missions were secularized and abandoned in the 1830s and 1840s, the libraries were scattered to the wind. Some books went to rectories or parish libraries, some into private homes, while others went to various Franciscan institutions. We have library stamps in our books that indicate a sojourn in places like the Franciscan Convent in Santa Barbara, the Franciscan retirement residence in Phoenix, Arizona, as well as other missions, such as San Luis Rey.

As the missions were restored and property returned, our books began to return as well. About 30 books came back in 1931 from the Rectory in Santa Cruz. They were identified as belonging to Mission San Carlos by their unique shelf marks. This return is documented in notes written in pen on the title pages. Others came from various places, especially the parish in Monterey, as Harry Downie began putting the library back together again in the 1950s and 1960s. One source was the old diocesan library at Mission San Fernando, assembled there in 1969. The bookplate, in Latin, indicates that these books came from the "library of the diocese of Monterey and (Los) Angeles."

Our books have been on an amazing journey. They have now come to a well-deserved rest in their home here in Carmel, and they will thankfully be with us for many more years to come.

Carmel Mission's I-HELP ministry needs YOUR help!

Once a month, for several years the Carmel Mission has hosted both the men's and the women's programs through the Interfaith Homeless Emergency Lodging Program (I-HELP). Carmel Mission provided overnight shelter for the I-HELP men's program on the 4th Wednesday of every month. Volunteers provided dinner, breakfast, & a brown-bag lunch for the program participants. And, on the 2nd Monday of every month the Mission provides overnight shelter for I-HELP's women participants. Volunteers provide dinner and a breakfast snack the next morning.

Currently, this ministry has only been able to host I-HELP's women's program participants. Carmel Mission NEEDS coordinators and volunteers particularly for the I-HELP Men's program. What can you do? You can contribute to the meals we serve, or you can provide a part of the meal and drop it off at Crespi Hall and you can share dinner and fellowship with the program participants. Please consider this ecumenical opportunity.
